Description

100.6 acres of mostly wooded mountainous land. There are small streams which, historically, were used as access roads to family farms before there were cars. Horses pulled wagons or carts on sleds up the streams. Once cars were available, they were driven up the small streams. Mostly ATVs have been used to access the land for years. This area has an abundance of wildlife for outdoor enthusiasts. Located only 10 minutes' drive from Pennington Gap. Roads would have to be regraded and graveled.
