Description

One-Acre Homesite with Exceptional 50'x60' Insulated Garage — Fully Improved & Ready to Build

Discover an extraordinary opportunity to build your dream home on nearly one acre in a quiet rural setting, perfectly situated between Johnson City and Elizabethton. This meticulously developed 1-acre homesite has been thoughtfully improved over the last three years to make it truly shovel-ready for new construction — complete with power, water, high-speed fiber internet, septic permit, propane infrastructure, and advanced site systems already in place.

At the heart of the property sits a spectacular 50' x 60' fully insulated metal garage, designed for serious hobbyists, collectors, RV owners, or anyone needing exceptional storage and workspace. The building includes three oversized bays, a 12' x 50' designated space prepped for bathroom & potential studio style living space or workshop, and a matching mezzanine storage level. Two bay doors measure 12'x14', perfect for even the largest RVs, and a third door is 10'x10'. Heating is provided by a permanent propane heater connected to a Google Nest thermostat, allowing efficient climate control year-round.

In addition to the garage, the property is equipped with major infrastructure typically left to the buyer — saving significant time, expense, and planning. This includes 400-amp electric service (200 amp main panel and 200 amp automatic back-up power), a city water connection with 1" PEX distribution, Brightspeed fiber internet run to the garage, an underground 1,000-gallon propane tank (leased), a simplex sewage lift station, and RV accommodations both inside and outside the garage.

With all the heavy lifting completed, this extraordinary property offers the rare chance to begin construction immediately while enjoying unmatched garage, workshop, and RV facilities from day one. A truly one-of-a-kind offering in a convenient yet peaceful location.
