Some owner financing is available. Water available at street.

Discover the potential of this 32± acre tract located along Sinking Creek Highway in scenic Dungannon, Virginia. The property is predominantly wooded with virgin timber and includes three cleared areas, offering a balance of open space and mature forest. These cleared areas, along with additional gently rolling sections of the property, provide several excellent locations for future homesites, all while maintaining privacy and natural surroundings. The terrain features rolling to steep slopes, ideal for recreation, hunting, or a private mountain retreat.
An old tobacco barn remains on the property, adding rustic character. Utilities include a well, spring, and existing septic system. An older house is present but is considered to have no contributory value.
The seller states there are trails throughout the property and some fencing located along the back portion of the tract. A small cemetery is also located on the property.
This land offers privacy, natural beauty, and excellent outdoor opportunities in a quiet rural setting. Ideal for buyers seeking recreational land, timber investment, multiple potential homesites, or a secluded getaway in Southwest Virginia.
