Description

Don't miss the opportunity to own this Spanish style SRF home. You can say it's a piece of Johnson City history having been built by the construction foreman who built the VA Medical Hospital. Using the same materials as the VA you can see the quality that went into this dwelling. As you enter the front door, you can't help but notice the beautiful hardwood floor throughout. The living room has a fireplace and 10 foot ceilings with plenty of natural light. The arched doorways just add character to this home. There are two bedrooms and one full and one half bathroom. There is a large formal dining area. The kitchen has been updated and has beautiful wood plank ceilings. The white stucco, white picket fence and the oversized front yard just add to the beauty of this property. This dwelling includes an unfinished basement level with a one car built-in garage. The Polk Ave. location is near local amenities and to most of all that Johnson City has to offer. Square foot of this dwelling has been determined through the ANSI standard. Seller is related to list agent.
