Description

Rare 2.42-acre Cherokee Lake access offering with a dedicated boat slip in Turner's Landing, Russellville. Lots 107, 108, and 109 are sold together as three adjoining wooded homesites on Outlook Trail in Hamblen County, a combined 2.42 acres that delivers scale, privacy, and flexibility rarely available in an established lake community. Build a single home with room to breathe, create a family compound, or build now and hold the additional lots. The three parcels are primarily wooded, with mature hardwoods and rolling terrain that lends itself to a walkout or daylight-basement design. The offering carries lake privileges through the Turner's Landing community amenities on Cherokee Lake, including a covered-slip marina, a community boat ramp, and dock access. Best of all, the package includes a dedicated boat slip that conveys with the property, so your boat has a home on Cherokee Lake from the day you close. Public water, private community sewer, underground electric, and fiber high-speed internet are all at the road, and community sewer means no septic system to design or maintain.

Turner's Landing is a single-family, site-built community. Homes require a minimum of 1,600 finished square feet for a single-story plan or 1,800 finished square feet for a two-story plan, each with an attached garage, with Architectural Review Committee approval that protects the community's wooded setting and long-term value. The combined annual POA fee for all three lots is $2,119, which includes the boat slip.

Outlook Trail sits in Hamblen County, minutes from Russellville and Morristown with Jefferson City and I-81 close by. Cherokee Lake, a TVA reservoir, draws boaters and anglers across East Tennessee year after year for bass and crappie fishing and easy summer recreation. Assemble your Cherokee Lake retreat on 2.42 wooded acres with a slip already secured
