Description

Some homes are about the finishes. This one is about the space, flexibility, and lifestyle that are increasingly hard to find this close to Johnson City. Tucked near the end of a quiet cul-de-sac just outside the city limits, the property is under ten minutes from ETSU, the VA, and JCMC while offering the advantage of county taxes with no city taxes. Two separate driveways and four garage bays - two on the main level and two below - provide an unusual amount of room for vehicles, a workshop, storage, or all the gear that comes with an active East Tennessee lifestyle. The lower driveway also provides generous space for a camper, RV, boat, or additional parking. Inside, the layout makes everyday living easy. New LVP flooring runs throughout the main living areas, and a gas-log fireplace gives the spacious living room a comfortable focal point. The primary suite, complete with a walk-in closet, is on the main level allowing the home's essential living spaces to remain on one floor. Practical updates add peace of mind with a newer metal roof and the septic system pumped in 2026. Out back, a large back deck with plenty of room for grilling, dining, and gathering with friends. Just beyond the deck, a hot tub creates a private spot to unwind, while the fully fenced half-acre yard offers room for pets, gardening, play, or simply more breathing room than you typically find this close to town. Downstairs, the full unfinished basement adds another layer of flexibility. Use it now for garage space, storage, a workshop, or a home gym with the option to finish additional space in the future to fit your needs. Whether your weekends are spent loading up the camper, taking the boat to the lake, working in the garage, entertaining on the deck, or relaxing in the hot tub, this is a property designed to make room for the way you actually live.
