Description

Charm, character, and a location that puts you close to everything Johnson City has to offer. Located in the desirable Tree Streets, this 3-bedroom, 1-bath home has been lightly renovated while preserving the details that give an older home its personality.

Two bedrooms are located on the main level, along with the kitchen, living spaces, enclosed front porch, and washer and dryer hookups. Upstairs, the third bedroom is paired with additional office space--perfect for a home office, study area, or flex space.

Outside, the property offers a fenced backyard, one-car garage, and carport, giving you plenty of options for parking, storage, hobbies, or a workshop. The garage is especially useful for anyone who wants dedicated space for projects or equipment, plus the unfinished basement provides plenty of storage space. The location is a major advantage. ETSU and downtown Johnson City are just minutes away, making this a practical option for a first-time homebuyer, purchasing a home for a college student, or anyone who wants to live close to campus, restaurants, shopping, and downtown. The seller is also open to paying closing costs, making this an opportunity worth considering for buyers looking to make a move with less cash out of pocket. If you've been looking for a Tree Streets home with original charm, useful outdoor space, a garage, and easy access to ETSU and downtown Johnson City, this one deserves a look.
