Description

At 120 Newman Lane, approximately 16 acres of open fields and woods surround a spacious brick home, with mountain ridges in the distance. The land includes hay and pasture ground, mature trees, a stream and a spring-fed pond near the edge of the woods. The broad back patio overlooks the grounds and offers plenty of space for outdoor dining or an evening outside. A detached metal building with a large overhead door has room for equipment or hobby projects and a second metal building provides additional storage and is equipped with a full septic system and plumbing hookups.

Inside, a marble-floored foyer welcomes you to the main level. The den has a fireplace and windows for plenty of natural light. The eat-in kitchen includes a pantry and space for everyday meals, while a separate formal dining room gives you room to host larger gatherings. The main level also includes three bathrooms, an attached two-car garage and space for a home office.

The walkout lower level opens to the rear patio and has its own exterior entrance, a second full kitchen, a living area, a bedroom, and a bathroom. It's a practical setup for extended visits, with space for guests to cook and relax on their own schedule. A bonus room with a wood-burning fireplace insert offers another spot to unwind, and an unfinished area provides additional storage.
