Description

INVESTMENT PROPERTY! There is so much potential with this property with the ability to renovate the home and keep the land as is for privacy or develop around the existing structure on two potential large parcels attached. This property is essentially 3 lots that were never separated when the area was subdivided out long ago. This parcel has remained one large property in the middle of Emory VA off Elm street for decades. The layout of the home lends a lot of space as well with plenty of options for renvovating and bringing the property up to a modern standard. To the right of the house is an older trailer and a shed building. The trailer has a separate power meter to the main home. The home comes with a metal carport that sits on the end of the driveway. From the carport you have easy access to a wrap around front porch. With a great location and tons of potential, this is a great investment option in the market for anyone looking for a huge lot and a blank canvas to make their own or fix up and sell.
